

Community Air Protection Program Workshop

Monterey, California – June 4, 2021

Signed by Governor Brown in 2017, Assembly Bill (AB) 617 was authored by Assembly Member Cristina Garcia to address the disproportionate impacts of air pollution in environmental justice communities. In response to this bill, the California Air Resources Board (CARB) established the Community Air Protection Program (CAPP) to reduce pollution exposure in communities based on environmental, health and socio-economic information, essentially prioritizing air quality improvements in these communities by enhancing air monitoring, providing for cleaner technologies, and engaging the community.

The Monterey Bay Air Resources District will hold a remote workshop on Tuesday June 8, 2021 at 10:00 a.m. to discuss how to improve air quality in priority neighborhoods (low-income areas and disadvantaged communities). The workshop will be held live online. For information on the CAPP and how to join the meeting remotely please visit our website at:

The Community Air Protection Program is part of California Climate Investments, a statewide initiative that puts billions of Cap-and-Trade dollars to work reducing greenhouse gas emissions, strengthening the economy, and improving public health and the environment — particularly in disadvantaged communities.
